The Long Brick Wall

'Leonora Oppenheim is an artist exploring landscapes of the human body, in all its undulating forms. This exhibition at The Anglesea Arms is in two parts. On one side is 'Corporeal', a selection of Leonora's recent works on paper, featuring figure drawings and photographs. On the other side is a special project called 'A Portrait of Maggie's' which celebrates the West London Maggie's Centre. Leonora created this collection for Maggie's last year, as an ode to the way people, gardening and architecture provide mutual support in this remarkable retreat centre on the Fulham Palace Road. 50% of proceeds from the Maggie's works will go to this charity's vital work caring for those affected by cancer.'
